

BA (Hons) Criminology and Policing (3 year Programme)

Full-Time Study from September 2023

Course Demands

Introduction

This document is produced by The University of Law (the University) to provide information about the demands of the course for prospective students.

The information included is an indicative guide for the full-time course commencing in September 2023. Students who enrol on the course will be subject to the course regulations in force at that time.

Details of the course/s including subject coverage and the learning environment, can be found on the University's website.

Preliminary Knowledge

You are not expected to have any preliminary knowledge of the subjects covered on the course.

Pre-Course Demands

You should complete the following pre-course modules before starting your studies:

- Consent Matters

In addition, it is recommended that all students complete the Getting Ready for Academic Study module which is available in the Skills4Study package available through ELITE / The Skills Academy.

Modes of Study and Attendance Requirements

Our courses are delivered using the Prepare – Engage – Consolidate (PEC) Model. You can find more information about the PEC model of learning in this presentation (INSERT LINK). There is not a specific, clear amount of time that you spend on each of the Prepare, Engage, Consolidate stages but an indicative amount of time for all stages overall is 40 hours per week in total.

Number of days attendance on campus usually required: Usually 3 days (but it could be 4 days)

Attendance requirements

- Each year comprises two teaching terms. Each term is made up of 12 teaching weeks, 1 week for revision and 2 weeks for completion of the assessments. The first term in year one has an additional week added to the programme - Freshers and Induction week. The timetable will be adjusted appropriately to accommodate the Christmas and New Year and Easter period.
- Each student will study 17 modules during the programme with 6 modules typically studied each year (3 in parallel in each term). Level 6 has 5 modules as the Dissertation is a double module (40 credits).
- Each module will comprise 10 large group sessions and 11 workshops.

The pattern of study will be as follows:

- The first week of each term will consist of 3 two hour large group sessions, weeks two to ten will consist of 3 two hour large group sessions and 3 two hour workshops. Week 11 will consist of 3 two hour workshops. The exception to this is Week 6 which does not have a large group session to create time for students to focus on their mock assessment.
- Attendance at all large group sessions and workshops is compulsory.

Summary of Key Learning Outcomes

Knowledge and Understanding Outcomes

- Demonstrate thorough knowledge and in depth, critical understanding of a large range of criminological and policing concepts, theories and research, and situate them in their cultural, historical, global, political, and social contexts
- Demonstrate thorough knowledge and in depth understanding of the National Policing Curriculum. This includes theories, concepts, values, principles and rules of policing and investigative practice as well as the ability to apply those skills
- Demonstrate critical awareness of contemporary criminological and policing problems, and the development and application of criminal justice policy from local to global contexts
- Identify appropriate methodologies for investigating complex problems, and critically evaluate different research methods

Intellectual Skills Outcomes

- Apply knowledge and understanding to offer supported conclusions, addressing complex actual or hypothetical problems
- Demonstrate intellectual independence including ability to ask and answer cogent questions about relevant laws and procedures & identify gaps in their own knowledge and acquire new knowledge, and engage in critical analysis and evaluation
- Successfully complete a substantial empirical research project that includes designing, conducting, evaluating, analysing and presenting criminological and/or policing research
- Produce a synthesis of relevant academic and operational issues and present a reasoned choice between alternative solutions and critical judgement of the merits of particular arguments.

General Transferable Skills

- Communicate clearly and coherently both orally and in writing in relation to matters relevant to criminology, policing, academia and relevant legal contexts
- Conduct self-directed research including accurate identification of issue(s) which require researching, retrieval and evaluation of accurate, current and relevant information from a range of appropriate sources
- Work with a range of data, including textual, numerical and statistical

Professional Skills and Attributes

- Demonstrate self-management, including an ability to reflect on their own learning, make effective use of feedback, a willingness to acknowledge and correct errors and an ability to work collaboratively
- Engage with their own personal and professional development

Learning Environment

- Large group sessions delivered by a lecturer on campus, two hours in length.
- Independent learning/study and preparation for workshop sessions, including reading, library based and online research.
- Workshop sessions facilitated by a lecturer, two hours in length.

- A variety of e-learning media (for example, video clips; demonstrations; virtual reality software) will be used during sessions, and for independent learning on-line via the ELITE virtual learning system (on a University pc or at home using internet).

Students are expected to participate and attend fully in all large group, workshop and related activities and carry out independent learning and preparation as directed.

Assessments (Coursework and Examinations)

A summary of the assessment schedule for this programme is explained below.

The University operates a fit to sit policy, which means that students who attend an assessment are deeming themselves to be fit to sit that assessment. It is therefore not possible to submit a concession or mitigating circumstances application for impaired performance for an assessment that has been sat, unless there was a procedural defect in the conduct of the assessment.

Assessment and learning adjustments

If you have any queries regarding support or adjustments whilst studying at the University of Law please contact the Disability and Inclusion Service on disabilitysupportservice@law.ac.uk or 01483 216657.

Summary of Assessment Demands

The following provides an indication of the duration, style and number of assessments.

Informal Assessments (formative assessments)

Each module has a formative assessment opportunity scheduled for completion in the first half of the teaching term. The style of formative assessment will vary and be in the same format as the summative assessment required for the module, ensuring students can get meaningful feedback ahead of their summative assessments which take place at the end of each term. The only difference will be that it is shorter in length than the summative assessment (as only part of the module has been studied).

Formal Assessments (summative assessments):

Assessment of each module will take place at the end of the term in which it was studied to allow students and lecturers to monitor progress.
