Programme Demands Document

Introduction

This document is produced by The University of Law for the information of prospective students. It explains the demands of the course in order that applicants with disability support requirements can assess their ability to undertake the course. Detailed questions about the extent of adjustments which may be made should be addressed to the Disability Support and Inclusion Service. This document may be made available to medical practitioners who may be asked to provide a professional judgement on the ability of an applicant to complete the course.

The information included is an indicative guide for the February 2021 intake only. Students who enroll on the course will be subject to the course regulations in force at that time.

Details of all of the Masters' Programmes in Law including subject coverage and the learning environment can be found on the University web-site.

Modes of Study

The Full-time programme can be studied with timetabled classes (either face to face or online), typically timetabled over two days per week.

The Part-time programme can be studied with timetabled classes (either face to face or online), typically timetabled over one days per week.

Summary of Key Learning Outcomes

Knowledge and understanding of principles related to the chosen specialism; cognitive (thinking) skills of critical analysis, problem-solving, and critical judgement and evaluation; practical legal skills of research and communication; and associated transferable skills.

Preliminary Knowledge and Skills

These programme is consistent with the QAA's Category 2: specialised or advanced study master's degrees. As such,

"all master's degree graduates have in-depth and advanced knowledge and understanding of their subject and/or profession, informed by current practice, scholarship and research. This will include a critical awareness of current issues and developments in the subject and/or profession; critical skills; knowledge of professional responsibility, integrity and ethics; and the ability to reflect on their own progress as a learner."
QAA Characteristics Statement, Master's Degree, September 2015, page 3.

A sufficient command of English to follow the course to a successful conclusion (a score of 6.5 or above in all subjects of the IELTS test).

University of Law Inclusion Plans (formerly Disability Support Agreements)

The University has a dedicated Disability Support and Inclusion Service to assist students in accessing the programme. To utilise the Disability Support and Inclusion Service medical evidence ideally should be provided prior to starting to ensure adjustments are put in place promptly. On receipt of the medical evidence the Disability Support and Inclusion Service will create an individual University of Law Inclusion Plan detailing the course and exam adjustments. These are then communicated to tutors and assessments officers to implement the adjustments.

The University is able to provide diagnostic assessments with an Educational Psychologist for students suspecting a Specific Learning Difficulty (SpLD) for example: Dyslexia, Dyspraxia, ADHD, and Dyscalculia. The student will incur a small contribution fee of £75. Once completed the Disability Support and Inclusion Service can put in place a Disability Support Agreement detailing the relevant adjustments to the course and assessments.

We provide Skills4Study Campus access via our interactive learning environment, ELITE, this service is available for all students. We are not, at this time, offering one-to-one SpLD specific tutoring. However Disabled Student Allowance funding should be sought if a Specialist Study Skills Tutor is required. The Disability Support and Inclusion Service can advise you on how to obtain DSA, we recommend you apply as soon as possible. If you are eligible you can apply for Disabled Student's Allowance <https://www.gov.uk/disabled-students-allowances-dsas>.

All students are expected to participate fully in all workshops and carry out self-study and preparation as directed.

Attendance requirements

- Each term is approximately 17 weeks in length.
- There is a comprehensive induction programme at the start of all programmes. As part of the induction programme there is compulsory Key Principles of the English Legal System module for those who do not have a prior background in law.
- Terms in which students study taught modules are teaching terms. Terms in which students study for their dissertation are called writing up terms.
- Each teaching term is made up of 10 substantive teaching weeks (not including induction). Each term usually has a break mid-way through the term.
- You must attend at the relevant University Campus / login to ELITE up to four days per week in teaching weeks and for your scheduled examinations in exam weeks. Attendance is not required during holiday, reading and revision weeks.
- Attendance at all workshops (see below) is compulsory.
- Each teaching day will involve either two or four hours of workshop tuition. Students can also expect additional compulsory and optional tuition and/or training (for example, Research Methods Training) to take place throughout the teaching weeks. Where possible, this is arranged on days when students are already studying.
- An average teaching week comprises of one two-hour workshop per module studied plus research methods training for LLM and MSc students. This is in addition to each student's guided self-study.

The indicative week on the full-time programmes is as follows:

Learning format	Hours

Total	42

The indicative week on the part-time programmes is as follows:

Learning format	Hours
Preparation for workshop sessions	12
Workshop sessions	2
Research methods training	1
Consolidation	6
Total	21

Assessment Demands

A summary of the assessment schedule for this programme is explained below.

As part of the University's commitment to an inclusive learning environment, we anticipate the needs of our students and design the coursework tasks to have sufficient time for most students, this includes students with SpLDs. A SpLD is generally not considered a sole justification for granting coursework extensions and coursework extensions are only granted in exceptional, evidenced circumstances.

The University operates a fit to sit policy, which means that students who attend an assessment are deemed themselves to be fit to sit that assessment. It is therefore not possible to submit a concession application for impaired performance for an assessment that has been sat, unless there was a procedural defect in the conduct of the assessment.

Assessment Adjustments

The Disability Support and Inclusion Service can offer a range of adjustments on a case by case basis. The programmes and assessments have been designed to be inclusive for students and the following adjustments are not normally made but can be considered in exceptional, evidenced circumstances which is assessed via the Disability Advisory Group.

- Replacing examinations taken under supervised conditions with take- away assessments / courseworks;
- Splitting examinations into shorter units such that a different paper is taken from the rest of the cohort.
- Changing closed book to open book exams

If you have any queries regarding support or adjustments whilst studying at the University of Law please contact the Disability Support and Inclusion Service on disabilitysupportservice@law.ac.uk or 01483216657

Time limits

Irrespective of any adjustments made, in order successfully to complete one of the Master's Programmes in Law or the PG Dip or PG Cert Legal Tech, all students are required, under the regulations, to pass all elements of the course within five years of commencing the course.

Summary of Assessment Demands

The following tables provide an indication of the duration, style and number of assessments.
